The beetle cars have been rushing to the Carmel Gas Stations with their thimbles since Tuesday. Gas has dropped all over town. The war Monterey gas stations have been waging for months, first selling two cents under tank posted prices, then four cents under, reached the final enormity early this week when they started to undersell by six cents.

Shell was the first in Carmel to break. Tuesday they posted prices to meet the Monterey undersell. Within 24 hours every station in Carmel had followed suit.

And the big cars are right on the tails of the beetle cars, with buckets.

Everybody loved the community party for retiring police Lieutenant Earll Wermuth at the Highlands Inn Thursday night. It had the atmosphere of a family gathering, a rather big family of about 150 Carmel citizens and officials, and peace officers from Monterey and Salinas. Earll's associates, city officials, and old timers who could remember when Earll was a kid spoke of their association and recollection of Earll with such an outpouring of admiration and praise that it would have ruined anybody but Earll who took it in stride.

There were presents, including a handsome and expensive rifle, for Earll who intends to do a lot of hunting and fishing.

Lucile Ray played her accordion which inspired community singing of which "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," featured prominently.

All over the place were to be seen Carmelites who stick to their fireplaces of a night, can't be dragged out to a party and haven't been seen since Peter Mawdsley retired. The affair had a special Carmel aura that is created by the attendance of just such Carmelites and is the greatest compliment Earll received.

Carmel Youth Center members will sell refreshments at the Crosby Golf Tournament again this year. They will provide hot dogs, sandwiches, coffee and soft drinks in booths at the thirteenth tee at Monterey Peninsula Country Club, the ninth tee at Pebble Beach.

The Carmel Board of Realtors installed Robert E. Ross as its new president last night at a dinner planned for the occasion at the Mission Ranch.

Elected to succeed Charles Lunt as leader of the organization, Ross is a relative recent-comer to town and the group compared with some of the veteran realtors who attended last night's session.

With the board since 1959, Ross has made Carmel his home for the past decade, coming here from San Francisco, Stockton and Fresno. A native Californian, he was in the investment business before turning to real estate. He has served as chapter chairman of the Carmel Red Cross, and participated in Boy Scout work.

Serving with the new president for the coming year will be Charles McEwen, vice president; Sallie Conn, secretary; Carl Bosholm, treasurer; directors Charles Lunt, Nancy Strathmeyer, William Farner, Herb Brownell and Ann Weeks, salesman-director. Ross was a member of the board of directors last year.

The realtors meeting last night are the present-day representatives of a group whose roots reach deep into Carmel's history, and

Police Investigate Loss Of Dime Bank Also TV And Picture

The Carmel police department investigated two reports of property loss yesterday.

Lieutenant John R. Cook, Santa Fe and Third, reported that a dime bank containing $2.00 had been removed from his home after 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. He reported that entry had been made by the front door, exit from a bedroom window, or vice versa. His wife said a juvenile was standing at the corner when she returned home. The juvenile watched her,

Art Board To Restudy Artist In Residence

The Carmel City Art Commission, meeting yesterday, reactivated its artist in residence plan and began study on a new project: suitable interior wall covering for city hall so that the fine art gifts the city now owns and those that will be donated in the future may be hung to advantage.

Glen Kearns, architect member, was appointed chairman of a one-man committee to study and make recommendations on the city hall improvement.

A special meeting will be held February 1, 4:00 o'clock to discuss the popular artist in residence plan which was worked out in detail in December, 1959, approved by the city council, then neglected when the commission concentrated its energies in planning an unwanted art festival, which was abandoned when it was found that the community would not support it.

Planning an art festival and an artist in residence project were included in the written directives the city council gave the art commission when it was established two years ago.

Much time and thought were given to the art festival plan, both by the commissioners and a citizens' committee, just as time and thought of members and citizens have been expended in carrying out other council directives to other city commissions, when a majority of the council did not favor the projects and had no intention of voting for them when they should come to the council for final approval.

It would be a courtesy on the part of the council, and appreciated by commissions and citizens alike if the council would accompany their directives and referrals to the commissions with a marginal note:

"We are in earnest about referral no. 1 and want you to work on it. In re. referral no. 2: we're passing it on to you because we want to get rid of it conveniently . . . lose it."

No action was taken on Nelo Drizari's report that it would cost money to have duplicates made of the historic photo collection in the library. The photos would be hung in the "new" city hall, which nobody has started to think about financing or building, and has no official existence other than a spot on the city planning commission's map.

New members welcomed by chairman Geza St. Galy: Richard Lofton, painter; Hazel McLellan, representing the dramatic arts; Marjorie Wurzmann, pianist, another new member, not present, was elected chairman; St. Galy, vice chairman.

REZONING HEARING

The public hearing on Willard Neumann's petition to rezone residence property for commercial use will be held Wednesday, 4:00 o'clock before the planning commission in City Hall.

Letters of protest should be sent in now, backed by personal appearance at the hearing. Protests need not be confined to those who live within the zone of interest.

HS Poetry Contest Deadline Is Feb. 1 Much Interest Shown

The high school poetry contest, sponsored by the Arena Blanca Poets and the Carmel Pine Cone, is off to a good start, according to Olivia Young, Arena Blanca president and contest chairman. Early entries and inquiries she has received from Monterey Peninsula high school students indicate considerable interest.

Mrs. Young wants to remind students intending to enter the contest that entries must be postmarked not later than February 1. Each student may submit one original, unpublished poem of no more than 24 lines, on any subject and in any verse form. Three typewritten copies, double-spaced with name in upper left-hand corner and school in upper right, should be mailed to Mrs. Olivia Young, 517 Crocker Avenue, Pacific Grove. Carbon copies are not acceptable.

Awards will be made at Arena Blanca's guest night meeting February 15. In addition to four cash

PADRE CAGERS WIN TWO AT SAN LORENZO

Despite some loose officiating which caused the games to resemble football a little more than basketball, Carmel High's basketball squads salvaged two games out of three played and maintained leading positions in both the junior-varsity and varsity divisions by clipping the San Lorenzo Cougars Friday at Felton. Carmel's lightweights put up a magnificent effort before dropping a 54-51 decision to the Cougar Babes. The Padre varsity finished in front of the hard-trying Cougars, 49 to 42, and the junior-varsity got the job done, 31 to 22.

Coach Dan Yurkovich's varsity crew had its hands full with San Lorenzo's Steve Rodriguez who pumped through 20 points and kept the Cougars in the game with his determined rebounding. The slender junior, an all-leaguer as a sophomore last year, was the only Cougar to hit in double figures while the Padres had three performers with 10 or more points. Scott Forbes topped the Carmel point-makers with 12 markers, Chris Wilkin had 11, and Mike Draper chipped in with 10. Chris and John Wilkin again led the Red & Gray in the rebound department and both turned in exceptional defensive games.

With Jim Kelley supplying the spark, Coach Dick Lawitzke's junior-varsity gang came back from 17-15 halftime deficit to pull out the win in the final heat. The sticky Padre defense limited the hosts to a pair of free throws in the fourth quarter while the local preps were pushing through 11 points. Kelley's 14 points led the Carmel scorers with Bob Palma and Rick Baldwin supplying 7 and 5 point efforts. Pete Morse helped give the Carmel jayvees game control as he picked off most of the rebounds at both ends of the court.

In the battle for the CCAL B-division cellar, the Cougar Cubs showed devastating accuracy from the free-throw line to finish in front of the Little Padres. Carmel's midgets outscored the winners from the floor but ran into cold shooting from the charity line. Carmel hit 20 field goals to 18 for San Lorenzo but the hosts made good on 18 foul shots to 11 for Carmel. Nearly all the Padre lights got into the scoring act with Ted Leidig's 15 points leading all the shooters. Bobby Moffatt, with 11 points, was the runner-up scorer as Rich Wise, Jack DeWitt, and John Lefler each came through with 6 markers.

The Padres return home for a triple-header this Friday night when the Hollister Haybalers visit the Carmel pavilion.

THROUGH THE HOOP

Former Monterey Peninsula College basketball coach, Pete Peletta, is off to a running start as mentor of the University of San Francisco Dons and has his charges in first place in the conference race. Pete steered his Dons to the Holiday Tournament championship and knocked over favored Loyola of Los Angeles in last week's league game. A disciple of the Pete Newell style of slow-down ball-control basketball, Peletta's MPC teams were always well disciplined and took a pride in their defensive play. Although this year's USF squad is predominantly a sophomore group, it has shown plenty of poise and confidence in all the early-season games . . . MPC's hoop squad got one big win and a close loss over the weekend as it sailed to an easy victory over Porterville JC and dropped a close decision to the Cal Frosh in a prelim to the Cal-USC game Saturday night. The Lobos are on the Peninsula for two games this weekend, tackling Diablo Valley at the Monterey High gym Friday night and hosting Vallejo JC at the Carmel High gym Saturday night . . . Carmel High's basketball teams, slightly bruised from last Friday's rough going at San Lorenzo, are also on the Peninsula for two games this weekend. The Padres host Hollister for a triple-header Friday night and journey across the Peninsula to Pacific Grove for three games with the Breakers Saturday night. The Breakers have had rough sledding in league games so far this season but they always put on their best show against the Padres. Hollister is back in the B-league after two fruitless years in the A-division and the Haybalers are also finding the going a little rugged in the little league . . . Coach Charley Howell's Pacific Grove lightweight team has one of the best hoop records in Northern California with 17 victories in a row over a two-year period. The Breaker lights appear to be the class of the league again this season and should breeze

Hallsted-Bailey At Sunset Auditorium In Images Of Love

Maria Hallsted and Richard Bailey star in a new production, Images of Love, to be presented at the Sunset Auditorium in Carmel on Friday and Saturday evenings, January 20 and 21, with curtain time at 8:30 o'clock.

Images of Love will mark the return of Miss Hallsted and Bailey to the Peninsula theatre scene after a six-month absence. Last season Bailey was managing director of The Studio Theatre, where he presented Waiting For Godot, Death of a Salesman, Under Milkwood, and The Chairs. The two actors last appeared together in The Studio's production of The Lady's Not For Burning.

Images of Love is billed as a theme for two actors and consists of nine units revolving about the single, recurring theme of love.

Arthur L. Dahl, National Treasurer of the Baha'i World Faith, will speak on the theme Peace Through Faith on World Religion Day which will be observed by Monterey Peninsula Baha'is with a program on Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the galleries of the Artists Guild of America on Monte Verde near Ocean Avenue. The public is invited to attend without charge.

This is the twelfth annual observance of World Religion Day, which was originated by the Baha'is and is now celebrated in many countries. "It is designed to focus attention on the need to utilize the spiritual dynamic found in religion to create a closer bond between peoples in all parts of the world," according to Mr. Dahl, a Pebble Beach resident.

Each unit treats of a single facet of love running the gamut from physical to patriotic love. Each unit or scene is complete in itself with its separate characters, sets, costumes and makeup.

Some of the scenes or units are taken from Shakespeare, Chekhov and Racine. Besides having drawn from the classics for these vignettes, there is also included an original mime created by Bailey, to be performed by him as a solo scene. Completing the program will be vignettes from more contemporary authors.

through the league with an unsullied record. Carmel's winless midgets would like nothing better than to upset the high-flying Wavelets this Saturday night . . . Blood was flowing at the Carmel-San Lorenzo varsity fracas last Friday when the Cougar's Steve Rodriguez and Carmel's Chris Wilkin changed the game from basketball to boxing. Reports indicate Rodriguez could have picked an easier foe than the rugged 210-pound tackle. Weak inexperienced officiating was the direct cause of the melee and as usual the players suffer. Both Rodriguez and Wilkin were prime candidates for all-league honors and will lose all consideration because of ejection from the game.

CROSBY TOURNAMENT SET TO ROLL JANUARY 19

Loaded with celebrities and solid with the best golfers in the world, the Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament is slated for its 20th staging when the swingers answer the starter's call on January 19. Played over the MPCC, Cypress Point, and Pebble Beach courses the Crosby Clambake is rated the most colorful tournament on the pro trail and has progressed from a $15,000 event to a $50,000 bonanza which sees the top pro carting away $5,300 for his four-day stint. As in past Crosby Tournaments, all proceeds are ticketed for charity with most of the funds going to youth work. The Monterey, Seaside, Pacific Grove, Carmel Valley, and Carmel Youth Centers are a direct result of help from the Crosby Fund.

150 pros and their amateur partners alternate courses for the first three days and the 50 low teams plus ties and pros in the money will tackle Pebble Beach in Sunday's final day of play. An hour's television coverage is slated for Sunday, January 22, from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Paintings by Harry Myers have been added to the exhibit at the Galerie de Tours, upstairs in the Seven Arts Court, Lincoln below Ocean. Other artists whose work is being shown are Nan Street Fowler, Marjorie Allen, Joshua Mendor, Jean Kalisch and Marlinde Von Ruhs. Gallery hours are noon to 5:30 o'clock every afternoon except Wednesday.

Harry Myers was born in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1910. He studied at Grinnell College in Iowa, then enrolled at the Chouinard School in Los Angeles. Subsequent study took him to the Midwest where he worked at the Grant Wood School, taught by Wood, with Adrian Dornbush in Stone City, Iowa, and the Cummings School of Art in Des Moines. At the latter school he won a scholarship for study at the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts under John Carroll.

He returned to California and established his home in La Jolla, then World War II was declared. He joined the U.S. Navy, was sent to New York and has lived there since, first as a commercial artist and fashion illustrator while studying at the Ozenfant School of Art, now devoting his full time to painting in the fields of figure composition and portraits, especially of children.

Discovery: Mexico is the name given to the show of work by three Latin-American artists at the Bolles Gallery in San Francisco until February 11. The artists are Jose Guadalupe Guadiana, chosen to work with Rivera, Siqueros and Aguirre on Mexico City murals; Julia Lopez, model for Orozco, Reyes and Rivera who took up painting and has exhibited in Mexico City for the past two years; and Antonio Segui of Argentina who studied art in his native land, Spain and France and since 1957 has exhibited in 30 shows in South America and Mexico. His work hangs in museums in Argentina, Ecuador, Colombia, Guatemala, Mexico and Venezuela.

The show at the Bolles, 729 Sansome Street, is the first time these three painters have exhibited their work in the United States.

MPVS Donates $16,509 To 26 Organizations On The Peninsula

Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services gifts totaling $16,509 assisted 26 Peninsula organizations during the past year, according to a report given at the annual MPVS meeting on Friday afternoon at the USO. These gifts ranged from $50 to the Carmel Unified School District to $3,890 to the Visiting Nurse Association, proceeds of the Garden Tour. Carmel Youth Center received $1,000 and Carmel Foundation received $3,300, proceeds from the Fabulous Fiesta. Apart from Tour and Fiesta, all funds came from the sale of donated merchandise at the MPVS thrift shop, Mrs. John O. Simpson, retiring president, reported.

Miss Claire Kennedy of Carmel is the new MPVS president. She has been treasurer during Mrs. Simpson's two-year presidency. Miss Kennedy announced the following as members of her standing committee: Miss Peg Bowen, special projects; Mrs. Arthur H. Black, membership and placement, on a temporary basis, later Mrs. Black will be parliamentarian; Mrs. K. L. Lindhardt, hospitality; Mrs. F. J. H. Rhodes, publicity; Mrs. M. C. Stebbins, special services; Miss Edna Browning, historian; and Mrs. Ethel Gilleland, office and shop supplies.

Mrs. Simpson, before retiring from office, paid high tribute to last year's board of directors and to the membership. She especially praised Mrs. Charles M. Jett, Fabulous Fiesta chairman, and Mrs. Rudolph ver Mehr, Garden Tour chairman. Mrs. Simpson also lauded Mrs. A. Boyd Mewborn, thrift shop chairman until illness necessitated her retirement, and Mrs. W. Lincoln Noelle, who took over and will be 1961 thrift shop chairman. Under Mrs. Noelle the shop moved to larger premises, that are now open for business.

Mrs. Mildred Prosser Riker, corresponding secretary, reported results of a written membership vote that favored only one major fund raising project this year, a garden tour and flower show on two successive days. A second policy matter decided Friday was that all funds raised during 1961, whether by special project or thrift shop, should go into the MPVS treasury, to be voted by the membership to those organizations appealing for funds.

Two gifts to the thrift shop from individual effort were acknowledged: $15 from Mrs. Rudolph ver Mehr, raised by modeling; $40 from Mrs. Gerrit Henry, raised from the sale of herb charts she made.

Mrs. Arthur Dresser requested members to bring used Christmas cards to the February meeting, these to be remodeled into boxes and tags for the thrift shop.

The annual tea followed the business meeting. Mrs. Simpson and Miss Kennedy presided at the tea table first, then Mrs. Archer Allen and Mrs. Frank G. Ringland.

Leon Fleisher, pianist, will be presented in a concert at Sunset Auditorium on Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock by the Carmel Music Society.

Born in San Francisco, Leon Fleisher was a pupil of the late Artur Schnabel. He became the first American to win a major foreign piano competition when he was awarded first prize in 1952 in the international concours sponsored by Queen Elisabeth of Belgium, mother of King Baudoin. In 1958 he was asked to represent the United States at the Brussels World's Fair. Last year he returned to Belgium to be a judge for Queen Elisabeth's piano competition and in 1959 was one of the judges for the Leventritt international piano contest in New York.

He plays concert tours in North and South America and Europe.

In Buenos Aires a concert series, symphony orchestra and instrumental competition were founded in his name, part of the city's Asociacion Musical Leon Fleisher. He was invited by President Eisenhower to play at the White House during the state visit to this country of Belgium's King Baudoin.

Included in Fleisher's program Saturday night will be Schubert's Sonata in B-flat major, Op. posth.

All Saints' Annual Meeting Jan. 27-28

Wednesday evening the congregation and friends of All Saints' Parish will meet in the Parish Hall from 6:30 - 7:00 o'clock for dessert and coffee in prelude to their 1961 annual meeting. With Mayor Frank Putnam as toastmaster, a "surprise" agenda is planned. Members of the high school youth group will present entertainment, a skit from their forthcoming production of Ye Gad! Whatta' Cad to be given January 27-28.

Presiding at the meeting will be the rector and senior warden of the parish, the Reverend David Hill and Mr. Lewis L. Fenton. Organizational reports will be distributed in mimeographed form. The election of five new vestrymen and seven delegates to the Diocesan Convention in San Francisco January 31 will comprise the major items of business. The vestry, the governing board of the business affairs of the parish, consists of 15 men elected for three-year terms on an alternating schedule. Nine men will be put in nomination by the nominating committee; nominations will also be made from the floor. Names to be submitted include Howard Brown Jr., Peter Dyer, James Neill, William Sanford, Stanley Ewig, Ralph Thompson, Sidney Williams, Furneaux White, and Colonel George Vaughn (U.S.A. Ret.). Speaker of the evening will be the rector of Corte Madera and Episcopal chaplain at San Quentin Prison, the Reverend Tod Ewald.

The rector will deliver his canonically required State of the Parish Report at the mid-morning Sunday services this weekend.

Minnie Boomer

Mrs. Minnie Florence Boomer, 90, died on Sunday in a local rest home after a short illness. Since 1954 she had lived with her son, Ralph James Boomer, in Pebble Beach.

Mrs. Boomer was born in Davies County, Illinois, on December 18, 1870. She moved with her parents, James Walker Bateman and Mary Bateman, to Delaware County, Iowa, in childhood. She grew up in this locality and later taught there until her marriage to the late Merton E. Boomer. In 1894, with her husband and son, she moved to Pipestone, Minnesota, and in 1933 to Oakland. Her husband died in 1947.

She was a member of the Methodist Church, a past worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star, for over 50 years a member of the PEO Sisterhood and a past noble grand of Rebekah Lodge.

Besides her son, Mrs. Boomer is survived by seven grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services, conducted by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, were held on Tuesday morning in Mission Mortuary. A second service was held Tuesday afternoon in the Albert Brown Mortuary, Oakland, with the Reverend Walter Mueller of Plymouth Congregational Church officiating. Burial followed in Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

All Saints' Church To Observe Week Of Prayer For Unity

A Week of Prayer for Church Unity will be observed in the local Episcopal parish, All Saints' at Ninth and Dolores Streets, beginning next Wednesday, and culminating in the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul on January 25. Daily intentions for specific prayers will be presented to the congregation next Sunday in the weekly bulletin.

Intentions include: January 18, Penitence for divisions and zeal for Church unity; January 19, Healing of differences between Catholic communions; January 20, Healing of breach between Protestant denominations; January 21, Guidance of God upon all organizations and men working for Church unity; January 22, Blessing of God on all clergy of Christendom; January 23, Deepening of bonds and trust between Anglican and Orthodox churches; January 24, Greater visible unity in each congregation; January 25, That the Holy Spirit may unify all men in Christ.

"Church unity begins in God's initiative and ends in His glory," says the Reverend David Hill. "We can do nothing greater nor more important than to pray as we start to work to heal the 'scandal' of Christian divisions." Members of All Saints' Parish will be asked to observe the week in their private prayers. The Offices of daily Morning and Evening Prayer at 9:00 o'clock and 5:15 o'clock will include prayers for the above-listed intentions.

The students transferring from MPC placed nineteenth in the total group of 65 colleges and ranked thirteenth among the transfers from 47 California junior colleges, Dean Smith said.

The Registrar's report shows that grade point averages ranged from .69 (D minus) to 3.75 (A minus) with an overall average of 2.25 for all junior college transfers in performance while at Stanford. Former MPC students chalked up a grade point average of 2.66.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How true health and harmony are established will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" at Christian Science churches Sunday.

Included in the Bible readings is this statement from Deuteronomy (5:33): "Ye shall walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you, that ye may live, and that it may be well with you, and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye shall possess."

This passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be read: "Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or of evil determines the harmony of our existence,—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity" (167:7).

The Golden Text is taken from I John (5:11): "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son."

Hello Pine Cone:

When I was a little boy you published an interview I had with the curator of the Pacific Grove museum. I was in the fifth grade and it was very nice of you.

Now I am a Junior in College and thought perhaps, you might peruse this poem; and, if you find it of any merit, publish it for all the Pooh lovers, and those who believe in Unicorns.

THE UNICORN

The Unicorn sat on a Muggeldy hill munching a blade of grass hoping to find serene repose in the arms of a virginal lass.

But it grew less brillig as time went on;
a dark cloud covered the sky;
rain began to come pouring down and the Unicorn didn't know why.

It flooded the foot of the Muggeldy hill and all of the valleys around.
The Unicorn stood with a soggy tail hoping he might be found.

The rain didn't stop, and the water rose 'till all the hills were gone except for the top of the Muggeldy hill which the Unicorn was on.

The little white horse with a horn on its head had tried so hard to be brave but it couldn't help shedding a sniffly tear when it thought of a watery grave.

Then in the distance a speck was seen which appeared to be some sort of bark, and believe it or not, that little spot turned out to be Noah's ark.

The Unicorn jumped and waved its horn, but the boat went sailing by,
and Noah just shrugged his shoulders, and Mrs. Noah was why.

"This boat is filled to the brim" she said,
"and it won't hold one beast more,
so leave that silly old horse alone, perhaps it'll swim to shore."

Well, Noah didn't argue,
And Japheth wanted to cry,
and the Unicorn just watched them pass and sniffed a sniffy sigh.

They left him behind on the Muggeldy hill on his tiny patch of ground, and his horn sort of drooped and he bit his lip when he watched the sun go down.

The stars were very bright that night,
But the brightest one in the sky
Had risen up from the Muggeldy hill.
. . . . . good bye.

—CHRISTOPHER M. JONES

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Elaine Spaeth is an art critic and a collector of modern religious art. Her new book is entitled Amercan Art Museums and Galleries, and it is an excellent directory and guide. The arrangement is geographical. In each case she gives a short history of the place and then goes on to discuss the most important items on display there. The book is illustrated with small photographs, none of which are in color. The author's style is easy and conversational, and the book makes good reading.

In 1832 when Alexandre Dumas was 30 years of age, he made a trip to Switzerland, partly because of his health and partly because his political views were unpopular at home. The book he wrote about his travels was entitled En Suisse, and has recently been translated into English and given the title Adventures in Switzerland. This is the account of the travelling of that day. It recounts the delights of fishing trips, of long conversations on hotel verandas, and of the humorous anecdotes of the time. The charm of Dumas' writing is here just as it is in the later works of fiction.

Back again from Switzerland, we give you a chance to visit Paris with John Russell. The author gives you the Paris of the people who live there now and have lived there in the past, with all the obvious things left out. There is no mention of the Eiffel Tower, or of Paris night life. A guide book for the educated reader, and the best to have appeared in many years.

Two biographies need noting here, the one of a man who lived in the sixth century before Christ and the other of a man living today. The first is entitled Cyrus the Great and was written by Harold Lamb. This is another of his popular readable biographies of great world figures, which have been called a mosaic of history. Cyrus was born a prince, in a tiny mountain kingdom, and he rose to rule Babylon. This book should please the many admirers of Harold Lamb. The second biography is Ezra Pound by Charles Norman. The brilliant, tormented life of Pound is told through the writings of many people who knew him and his own writing as well. The author does not sit in judgment upon Pound but says "What was noble in his nature will not be forgotten, and what is truly great in his work will surely endure".

There are new novels, of course, including several mysteries, and more good non-fiction. And all for your enjoyment or to enhance your knowledge, or both.

Radford-Smith Marriage

White chrysanthemums decorated Carmel Presbyterian Church on Saturday afternoon when Shirley Faith Radford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy H. Woodbridge of Leuton, England, became the wife of Dr. Frederick Reindel Smith of Watsonville, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Smith of Gates Mills, Ohio. Dr. Joseph M. Ewing conducted the marriage service which took place at 3:30 o'clock.

The bride was given in marriage by Dr. Russell M. Pratt of Carmel She wore an ivory brocade wedding gown with a sculptured bodice, ballerina length skirt and a bow of the fabric marking the waistline in front. Her elbow-length veil fell from a tiny brocade cap and she carried a cascade bouquet of white bouvardia and tea roses. For "something old" she carried a handkerchief given to her by the groom's mother, and for "something borrowed," she wore a scarab pin belonging to her matron of honor, Mrs. Russell D. Pratt. Her other attendant was the groom's sister, Mrs. Rodney Vinson of Berkeley.

Mrs. Pratt wore a gold shadow print sheath dress, matching shoes and ribbon-trimmed veiling hat. Her flowers were lemon yellow carnations combined with yellow tea roses. Mrs. Vinson wore a teal blue silk dress with matching hat and accessories, and the flowers in her bouquet were similar to the matron of honor's.

The best man was the groom's brother, Dr. Anthony Smith of Coos Bay, Oregon. Rodney Vinson, the groom's brother-in-law, and Edward Mann of Watsonville were the ushers.

The groom's mother attended the marriage in a deep blue-green faille gown worn with black accessories and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

The reception following the ceremony was held at Carmel Valley Inn. The bridal couple cut their tiered wedding cake before leaving for a honeymoon in Palm Springs. For traveling the bride changed to a gold-beige knit suit with harmonizing accessories. They will live in Rio del Mar when they return.

The bride received her education in England. She served for four years with the Royal Air Force. Before coming to Carmel four months ago, she had lived in Singapore and on Cyprus.

Her husband is a graduate of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons in Los Angeles. He has practiced in Watsonville for the past three years.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wagner of Cleveland, Ohio, cousins of the groom.

Dr. and Mrs. Pratt gave a prewedding breakfast at Pine Inn on Saturday for out-of-town relatives of the groom and members of the wedding party. The bride's parents were unable at this time to come from England to attend the marriage.

The babies' grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Roy Horning of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. Colin Chambers of Monterey. Their great-grandmother is Mrs. Mary Read of Monterey (Kate Carewe), an English artist and writer who lived in Carmel during the early 1920s and was actively associated with the artistic life of this community.

The twins have an aunt, Christine Chambers, who attends Santa Catalina School for Girls, and an uncle, Arty Horning, a Carmel High School student. Their father, a 1959 graduate of Carmel High School, is now studying business at Sacramento Junior College.

Open House At First Unit Of Hacienda Carmel, Sat., Sun.

Open house will be held Saturday and Sunday at Casa Sereno, first living unit of Hacienda Carmel, a co-operative retirement community in lower Carmel Valley. When the 40-acre development is completed, there will be 300 living units, a chapel, infirmary, restaurant, laundry, community center, hobby shop, recreational facilities and service shops.

Hacienda Carmel is situated two miles up the Valley to the right of the Carmel Valley Road and across the river. The site is adjacent to the former Carmel Valley Dairy Farm and the entrance to Rancho San Carlos. Edgar H. Haber of Carmel Valley is directing sales. Lester C. Burdett, Jr., vice president and general manager of Retirement Homes Division of Alcan Pacific Company, heads the project.

Casa Sereno will be open to the public this week end from 10:00 o'clock in the morning until 5:00 o'clock in the evening, Mr. Haber states, and adds that the unit may be inspected every day thereafter during the same hours.

The dwelling has two bedrooms and two baths in addition to a kitchen and large living room facing its own patio. Decorative masonry, stucco and redwood are the construction materials. The outside is landscaped and the interior furnished, keeping in mind the particular needs of retired persons.

Hacienda Retirement Community is a co-operative corporation, owned and controlled by resident shareholders. Shares are offered to California residents only, and may be transferred or sold by heirs.

Marsha Hunt To Play Lead In New Comedy At The Opera House

Hollywood and Broadway star Marsha Hunt will be leading lady of a new production of the hit comedy Marriage-Go-Round which opens on stage at the Wharf Theatre and Opera House in Monterey tomorrow night. The Opera House is California's only year-round professional playhouse outside of Los Angeles and San Francisco.

One of the outstanding actresses of the American stage, Marsha Hunt has starred on Broadway in The Tunnel of Love, The Devils Disciple and many others. In Hollywood she has appeared in sixty motion pictures, starring most recently in Blue Denim and Happy Time. Her new picture, The Plunderers with Jeff Chandler is now being released.

In Marriage-Go-Round she appears as the sophisticated wife of a university professor. The comedy's story centers around the professor being selected by a beautiful Swedish girl to collaborate with her on an important project, namely, the production of an ideal child. The role of the glamorous Scandinavian with advanced ideas will be played in Monterey by Gloria Robertson, lovely young television star who has been featured on 77 Sunset Strip, the Ann Sothern show, Matinee Theatre and other TV programs.

Marriage-Go-Round will be on stage for nine performances only, playing nightly at 8:30 from January 13 through January 21. There will be one matinee on Saturday, January 21, at 2:30. There will be no performance on Sunday, January 15.

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

David Abel, the 26 year old San Francisco violinist who has already earned the nation-wide reputation of being one of the most gifted and foremost of the younger violinists of America, played the third of the Pacific Grove Community Concert Series last Friday. Together with the excellent pianist, Sidney Stafford, he presented a program of Bach, Franck, Falla-Kochanski, Bartok and Saint-Saens to a full house.

Abel is well known to this community, since he has played several times with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra and on other occasions, and though I had heard him quite recently with the San Francisco Symphony, it seemed Friday he had added power to his facility and interpretations. This was immediately evident in the Bach E Minor Partita with all the beauty of the Adagio expressed with deep feeling as well as tonal clarity and phrasing, complemented with Stafford's clever support. The Franck Sonata demanded an ensemble from both players that produced a triumphant finale. After intermission, Spanish Folk Songs arranged en suite by Falla-Kosanski, charmed with their demands for novel technique and expression. There is nothing that Abel cannot do with his instrument in unusual tone and interpretative effects with his thoroughly controlled bowing. He supersedes even Heifetz and Menuhin at his age, whom I often listened to in New York. The Rhapsody No. 1 by Bartok, dedicated to and produced by Joseph Szigeti at Budapest, and the Saint-Saens Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso sparkled with the brilliancy and ingenuity of both musicians who, after many recalls, added three extra numbers, the last being the well known Viennese melody transcribed and made popular by Fritz Kriesler. Abel, committed to a full season with major orchestras and recitals throughout the country from Honolulu to Washington, D. C., carries with him the best wishes of the musical people of the Peninsula.

From Daniel Llords, Jones and the Puppets International comes a New Year message—"This warm if frost-bitten greeting is sent you from within 200 miles of the Arctic Circle where "we" have become the first marionette theatre to appear (waist-deep in snow) in concert." Llords International is filling many engagements with symphony orchestras and theatres in Canada and will not return to their Cannery Row headquarters until April.

Joseph Krips, the Vienna-born conductor of the Buffalo Philharmonic, who has conducted the New York Philharmonic in Beethoven cycles and many orchestras throughout the world, is to be the guest conductor of the San Francisco Orchestra on January 18, 19, and 20 at the Opera House. The program includes Wagner's Overture to Tannhauser, Strauss' Tone Poem Don Juan, and Bruckner's Symphony in E major.

Congratulations to Karen Steinke of Carmel who Saturday won the district audition of the Metropolitan Opera Association held at San Jose, and we hope she will later win the wider contest and go to the Metropolitan, for she has a beautiful voice and real dramatic talent.

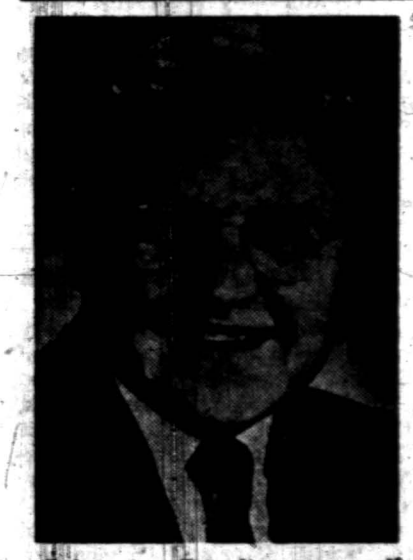
Richard Boone, Weekend Visitor

Actor Richard Boone, who plays Paladin in the Have Gun, Will Travel television series, and Mrs. Boone were Carmel visitors during the past week. A former local resident, Mr. Boone acted in melodramas at the First Theatre.



Polynesian Paradise, personally presented by Arthur Dewey, is the third in The World Around Us all-color motion pictures travelog series sponsored by the Carmel Unified School District. This beautiful film, recorded against an authentic background of lovely island music, will be presented Tuesday evening, January 17, at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium.

Mr. Dewey presents the carefree life and exotic beauty found in the South Pacific Islands — Tahiti, Samoa, Fiji-Moorea, Bora-Bora, Pago-Pago . . . . "magic names that spell romance, paradise on earth."

In Samoa one sees the sensational knife dance, Robert Louis Stevenson's home, Samoan chiefs, village life, South Sea gardens and beaches.

A film trip to Tahiti enables one to see natives netting fish, building a home, creating a canoe from a single log, outdoor island feasts, vanilla plantations, Tahitian hula, Bastille Day at Tahiti's only city Papeete, Quinn's — the nightspot of the Pacific.

Fiji is the island where less than a hundred years ago there were cannibals. His film includes war dances, life below the reefs, taro and tapioca, the blue lagoon, the amazing fire-walking ceremony.

Arthur Dewey is one of the top professional photographers in the field of travel and adventure. He has been over much of the world and in every corner of the U.S.A. producing color film programs. He was for many years executive of one of Cleveland's oldest manufacturing firms.

Ross Installed As Real Estate President whose influence has been felt consistently and continually in the shaping of the community.

Though the Carmel board dates its charter only from a dozen years ago, it existed before that as part of the Monterey Peninsula Board of Realtors.

When the communities grew, and the Carmel members saw their own interests becoming more divergent from those of the Peninsula group, they withdrew and were granted a charter of their own in 1948.

In addition to Carmel proper, the board's boundaries take in Carmel Valley, Carmel Highlands and Pebble Beach.

A random roster of past leaders in the group includes the names of Ernie Morehouse, the late Trev Shand, Ken Wood, Daisy Bostick, Barnet Segal, Lee Tanous, Louis Conlan, William Eklund, Jim Mustard, Richard Catlin, Enos Fouratt and many others.

At least two of the founders of the board, Corum Jackson and Gladys Johnston, continue actively in the real estate field.

Like some of the other realtors in the area, Mrs. Johnston is a second-generation Carmel realtor. Her father, Robert C. Riegg, was a realtor for the firm of Frank Devendorf, around whose personality has been woven, through the years, a colorful blanket of fact and legend about the early days of Carmel when land worth thousands of dollars today was bartered to those who needed it for whatever they had to offer.

Mrs. Johnston herself, who first visited Carmel in 1906, has an indelible memory of the community in its boardwalk-and-bathhouse days, when life was a little slower and perhaps a litfle better. She has been a resident for the past 28 years.

Active not only with the local board, Mrs. Johnston has long been active in the California Real Estate Association, serving as a director-at-large for many years and currently as the vice chairman for the northern division of the credentials committee.

She has also served for two years as the first regional woman vice president of the California Real Estate Association and for the same length of time as regional vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Brokers.

Actually, the board as a group can take a lion's share of credit for the work of keeping intact the unique personality of Carmel, standing firmly against a nearly overwhelming tide of encroaching banality and over-commercialization.

According to Mrs. Johnston and others, it is a matter of record that as early as 1956, before most citizens were really alert to the news of a proposed freeway, the board had already begun a concerted drive to have the matter reconsidered.

"How I wish now we had shown even more fight," Mrs. Johnston says. "We might have had a chance—then."

A rigidly enforced policy code also cleaves to the idea of retention of all that is beautiful, original and in good taste in the community. One item, for instance, forbids the display of For Sale and For Rent signs on property listed with the board. Any such signs in Carmel—and they are seldom seen—means that the owner is acting as his own salesman and unaware that he is offending. The Carmel realtors' sign policy is honored by all Peninsula realtors.

Another factor the board can point out with pride is the high percentage of its members who have been and are active in civic and community affairs. The tradition of having had a real estate man for a city founder (Devendorf) is thereby carried over into the present, when realtors continue to be a guiding force in the community.

Jack Dolinger of Santa Cruz, regional vice president of the Tenth District of the California Real Estate Association was the installing officer. Guests included Mayor Frank Putnam and Mrs. Putnam; Thomas Craig, representing the Carmel Business Association, and Mrs. Craig; Ted Fehring, Howard Gruber, Mrs. Evelyn Brown, president of the Salinas Board of Realtors; and Ed Rudoni, president of the Monterey Board of Realtors, and Mrs. Rudoni. Irene Baldwin was chairman for the event. Red and white carnations decorated the tables and a piano player provided background dinner music.

3 Carmel Men Put Esthetics First In Apartment Project

Construction of Pine Terrace Apartments, Carmel's first co-operative apartment development, is under way. The 30,000 square foot site for 19 units is situated on a wooded hillside at Mission and Third Streets.

Havasco of Carmel, developer of the project, is a partnership of J. O. Handley, Anthony Vasconcellos and Robert Connell. They are Carmel residents who prefer apartment use to other multiple dwelling development of their property. Under present zoning 30 units could be built on the land rather than the proposed 19. August Nieto is salesman for Havasco.

Pine Terrace's four buildings designed by George Willox, A.I.A. will be constructed at different levels to permit views of the ocean and mountains. In order to keep the character of the area, Havasco asked the city to abandon Third Street at Camino del Monte, an unopened street and grant a portion of it for access. In return the Havasco partners granted the city a scenic easement for pine-covered land adjacent to property already owned by the city at Mission and Third, and planned to be retained as a natural park. The city council acted last week on this matter.

The Havasco of Carmel partners are active in community life. Mr. Handley, owner of Carmel Builders Supply, has lived here for 30 years. He is a member of the Carmel Youth Center adult board and Carmel Rotary Club. Each year he provides a $750 college scholarship for a graduating Carmel High School senior. He has served as chairman of the Carmel Unified School District board of trustees, and on the Peninsula Community Hospital board. His two sons are both graduates of the Carmel school system.

Mr. Vasconcellos and Mr. Connell are partners in the Carmel Glass Company. They came here ten years ago from Watsonville. Mr. Vasconcellos lives at Horizon Inn, which he owns. He is treasurer of the Carmel Lions Club. His daughter, Mary Ann, attends Santa Catalina School for girls.

Mr. Connell has three children who attend Junipero Serra School at Carmel Mission Basilica. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Carmel Youth Center Adult Board. He is very active in the Carmel Little League organization and served as president last year.

Hartnell Chorus To Present Concert

will direct his group in a playing of Two-Violin Concerto by J. S. Bach, and Piccolo Concerto by Vivaldi.

Formed last spring as a part of Hartnell's Extended Day Program, the Community Chorus has carried on through this year largely because of efforts of members.

After its performance last May of a rediscovered Chamber Mass by Vivaldi, the 50-voice group elected officers to manage business affairs and to maintain communications. A majority of its members are again in the current aggregation.

Heading the officer group is Betty Barnton, business manager; Ruth Healey acts as secretary. Making up the executive board are Charles Bird, Dorothy Palmer, Ellen Scott and Donald Stewart, all of Salinas.
